13:40:27 From Addison (North Texas) to Everyone:

Are we inviting the same members? I think it would be interesting to see if chapters are competing for the same attendees? If we're proposing that similar events might be diluting effective outreach, but if each event has unique attendees, then having similar events might not be as a big of an issue. I think it goes into the topic of what effective chapter collaboration is? Versus just slapping two names on the same event.
